

Published based on Some Easy Ideas For Selecting Small Dog Coats

Some Easy Ideas For Selecting Small Dog Coats

While dogs come with a natural coat it may not be enough to keep them warm in the snow or rain. Small dogs especially tend to lose body heat when they are out in the cold and wet. Fortunately there are many different styles and types of cool looking jackets for small dogs.

A dress coat is a good way to give your small dog a touch of style. While they will not provide much in terms of warmth they can make your dog the diva of the park. Some will even feature faux fur collars to give your dog some extra warmth around the neck and face. You should also take a look at a small dog jacket with a holiday flair, like a mini Santa suit. Just add some fancy ribbons and your dog will be ready to spread some holiday spirit.

Waterproof jackets are a fairly new type of small dog jacket. This can stop your dog from getting soaking wet and cold when out for a walk in the rain or snow. Usually these types of small dog jackets will be made from Lycra panels which are adjustable. This lets you give your small dog a watertight fit. Many small dog rain jackets also feature insulation for added warmth when the weather is cold and wet.

A trendy new way to keep your dog warm is with a hoodie. These come in a wide array of colors and patterns so you can really allow your dog to be a real fashion plate. Types of hoodies which feature removable hoods will give you added versatility. If you are more interested in a vintage look think about getting your small dog a corduroy jacket. Most small dogs love these soft and comfortable coats. There are so many options you are bound to find the perfect fit for your furry friend. Check out the selection at your local pet store or any of the excellent online retailers.

You can also find this article published on Some Easy Ideas For Selecting Small Dog Coats, and on the tag pages dog coats, dog jackets.