

Published based on Working With Electronic Dog Collars To Train Hunting Dogs

Working With Electronic Dog Collars To Train Hunting Dogs

Hunting dogs have to be trained the quicker the better so that you can grow to be a valuable hunting companion. For those who have a hunting dog, you may desire to commence training him when he is about four to six months old. One particular way that numerous hunters are working with to train gun dogs is always to use an shock collar.

Just like almost everything else in today's age, canine friend training has also gone high tech. Do not, having said that, confuse dog training collars with their ancestor - the "shock collar." Today's electric dog collars are quite gentle and will allow you to train your dog with ease.

Finding started

The very first thing which you ought to do would be to figure out which type of shock collar you will need for your family dog. Should you program on hunting waterfowl, chances are which you are using a retriever as your bird dog. In case you are going after game bird, you may be employing a spaniel or a pointer. The variety of canine friend which you use will determine the form of electronic collar that you simply want.

In case you are planning on hunting about the water, for example, it can be wise to acquire a waterproof electric dog collar. This will be secure, even when totally submerged in water. If you are organizing on hunting within the wide open fields using a pointer, a dog that covers a large area of ground, you may be wise to acquire a electronic dog collar that has a wide range for transmission.

Employing the collar

Most electronic dog collars these days have distinctive levels of stimulation. You might normally wish to use the lowest degree of stimulation as you could to get your canine friend to behave. It is possible to use each continuous stimulation at the same time as momentary stimulation. Momentary stimulation is just an incredibly swift small "nick" that corrects the canine friend. You do not want to overuse the nicks or else they are going to be ineffective. Simultaneously, you do want to be sure that the family dog gets trained. The sooner that he understands what's expected of him, the superior off he and you will be.

You'll want to use the collar in addition to verbal commands and also the canine whistle to ensure that he can associate the nicks from the collar using the verbal commands. If the canine decides to do one thing which will put him in harm's way, like take off running, it is possible to use the continuous degree of stimulation. This can commonly quit him from running. Again, you do not need to over use any training technique or else it becomes ineffective. The majority of today's electronic dog collars will time out just after utilizing the continuous stimulation mode for additional than 7 seconds.

When to quit

After your dog is trained, you are going to not should use the electronic collar any longer. The ideal aspect of working with the electronic collar is the fact that when employed in conjunction with family dog whistles and verbal commands, you may have your canine trained in record time. Then he will associate the whistles and commands using the correct behavior. If, for some reason, he regresses and decides to cease behaving, you'll be able to always reinstate the collar. For probably the most part, even so, you'll find that utilizing an electronic dog training collar to train your family dog will have him trained in 1 hunting season.

Choosing the right dog supplies is incredibly important. Go to GundogsOnline.com for more information and facts on Dogtra replacement batteries and DT System.

You can also find this article published on Working With Electronic Dog Collars To Train Hunting Dogs, and on the tag pages dogtra batteries, dt system.